Visibility of System Status

- Map view should have either a compass or an arrow to indicate the direction that you are looking at.

- Friend request click - not sure if added as friend or friend invite sent. When clicking on the add friend button the app gives no indication of whether you added the user as a friend or simply sent a friend request.

- "Proximity/Date" - Not clear what this section mean, also its button doesn't indicate its functionality clearly.
- Sliders for skill rating and rating participants are hard to see the exact value. Could use stars or interval-divided slider instead.
- Inbox has no category for friend section. It is not immediately clear on who's a friend and who's not. Perhaps section labels would be nice. Alternatively, a separate view for looking at friend requests so that it won't clutter your friends page.

- Home page search bar not sure what to search. (search for event? search for location?)

Match Between System and The Real World

- "Inbox" page's add new chat not consistent, not clear. (An add button on the bottom right may be better for android, for iOS the top right works but consider an add icon instead of an edit)

User Control and Freedom

- Not applicable.

Consistency and Standards

- Clicking on user picture takes you to profile on the "Friends" tab, but the same action on the "Inbox" tab or inside the chat window doesn't do the same thing.

- Backing from attending user profile - Clicking "back" brings the user to the map view rather than the event page that they were on.
- Lack of a "Privacy" option to control who can message and/or send you requests.
- Backing from "help" section goes to setting even if not previously on setting

Error Prevention

- Lack of confirmation of password on account registration. Users might accidentally enter their password wrong and get locked out of their account.
- Lack of confirmation pop out for most of the things (add friend, register event, add event...). Mistakes could happen.

Recognition Rather than Recall

- Highlight today's date - A visual indication to draw user's attention that an event is happening today. Nice to see where today falls in the list of events

- Event page - Include image of the event so the users don't need to memorize the name of the event.

Flexibility and Efficiency of Use

- "View event" in friend chat - Include small description and register function, so that the user doesn't need to click on "view event" to access these information and function.

Aesthetic and Minimalist Design

- Help section - Hard to read, differentiate the questions and answers with horizontal lines as separation or more distinguishable fonts/colors/bolding. Use bullet points or numbering for the answers will also improve readability.

How do I search and join a specific event?
- Go to the map, then select List view
- Search for the event using the search bar
- Tap on the event and then select "register"

How do I create or edit an event?
Tap the events tab on the bottom section of your screen
Under the "Hosting events, tap the + sign
Enter all the event information and then tap "Create"
You can come back to your events and tap on them to edit
Once you're done editing, tap "Save changes"

How do I find people attending or have attended an event?
Go to the event and swipe down on the event page
You should see name of the attendees

Help Users Recognize Diagnose and Recover From Errors

- Not applicable.

Help and Documentation

- Use pictures of icons in the "Help" tab instead of saying "messages icon" or "settings icon". Not very severe but could help with clarity.
